

T. R. ADMITS CONSULTING G. O. P. "BOSS" FREELY

TESTIFIES HE TOOK ADVICE OF PLATT IN MANY MATTERS

Series of Tellers Between Former Governor of New York and Senator Platt are Read to Jury—Colonel Does Little Talking—Will Resume Stand Today.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 26.—Theodore Roosevelt admitted under cross-examination today in the suit for alleged libel which William Barnes has brought against him, that while governor he had freely consulted the "boss" of the Republican party in New York state in reference to the appointment of officials in the state government and various legislative and political matters. The "boss" named was Thos. C. Platt, who at that time represented New York in the United States senate. The former president said he took the advice of the senator in many matters, among them appointing a Democrat to the office of tax commissioner to "please Grady," whom the colonel described as "a lieutenant boss" of Richard Croker, then leader of Tammany Hall.

Asks Platt's Advice.

The testimony resulted from questions asked after a letter of a series that passed between Roosevelt and Senator Platt had been read to the jury. In these letters, both writers discussed all manner of political and legislative affairs. In one, Colonel Roosevelt asked the senator's advice about making speeches. In another, Senator Platt told the colonel he had received a copy of a bill introduced by Grady, in which the senator said he considered it inadvisable to give Tammany from $3,000,000 to $12,000,000 on an appropriation to expend upon the water front of New York, as "it would simply be putting an unnecessary club in the hands of those people with which to knock our brains out."

With another letter the colonel sent the senator a proof of his message to the legislature which dealt with, among other things, public utilities, the franchise tax, the trusts, industrial conditions and labor. The part dealing with the trusts, the colonel wrote, had been submitted to several "experts" including Elihu Root, President Hadley of Yale, Professor Jenks of Cornell and Jas. A. Dill, who was described in the letter as "a big corporation lawyer."

"Enjoyed Being Governor."

And in the last letter read which was dated in 1901, Colonel Roosevelt told the senator that he did not want to be vice-president of the United States as it was not an office in which he could do anything. The colonel said he should like to be governor for another term and that "in spite of all the work and worry—and very largely because of your constant courtesy and consideration, my dear senator—I have thoroughly enjoyed being governor."

The colonel added, that, not being a money-maker he felt "in honor bound to leave his children the equivalent in a way of a substantial sum of actual achievement in politics or letters."

The colonel did little talking today. For the most part he sat in the witness chair and listened to counsel for William Barnes read the letters, which it was said, were furnished by a son of Mr. Platt. When the colonel did talk, it was to identify the letters or answer questions concerning them.

The reading of additional correspondence that passed between Colonel Roosevelt and Mr. Platt will begin when Colonel Roosevelt resumes the stand tomorrow morning. Mr. Barnes was not in court during the afternoon session having gone to Albany to attend the state constitutional convention.

Springfield, Ill., April 26.—A temporary restraining writ was granted William H. Latta in the United States district court here today and it was directed against the Granite Livestock Insurance company of Bloomington and Rufus M. Potts, state superintendent of insurance. THEIRFELDER TO INTERN RAIDER KRON PRINZ WILHELM FOR WAR

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Lieutenant Captain Theirfelder, commander of the German commerce raider Kron Prinz Wilhelm, late today informed collector of customs Hamilton at Newport News, Va., that he would intern his ship for the war in American waters.

The commander presented this note: "Herewith I have to officially inform you that I intern."

The Wilhelm after reparing at the shipyard and loading quantities of supplies began taking on 3,000 tons of coal at the local docks today. Rumors that she would attempt a dash to sea past the allied warships waiting off the Virginia capes had been current all day.

FORMER PRISONER AT CHESTER BREAKS INTO PENITENTIARY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 26.—Alfred Jackson, a former prisoner at Chester and returned to the institution a few days ago for violation of parole, holds the record for literally breaking into the penitentiary. After his discharge recently Johnson went to East St. Louis. He secured a position as a mechanic where it was necessary for him to furnish his own tools. The tools he used while in the penitentiary would answer the purpose and he went back to Chester, broke the huge padlock on the gate and secured his tool kit. He was arrested at Chester on suspicion a short time afterwards and returned to prison. He now seeks a second parole.

BATTLE CONTINUES WITH UNABATED FURY

GERMANS MAKE SUCCESSFUL COUP WHICH DENTS ALLIED LINE

Allied Fleet and Army Commence an Attack on the Dardanelles—Austro-Germans Evolve New Movement in the Carpathians—Diplomatic Situation Obscure.

London, April 26.—(10:30 p. m.)—The tremendous battle begun by the German attack on the allied arc-line front around Ypres, on the plains of Flanders, continues with unabated fury, and England, like the rest of Europe, is awaiting the outcome with undisguised anxiety.

Even the news that the allied fleet and army have commenced an attack on the Dardanelles and that troops are advancing against the Turkish entrenchments, which, a few days ago, would have aroused immense enthusiasm, has received only passing attention in the face of the stakes that are in the balance in the battle which is being fought beyond the English channel.

Prussians Make Successful Coup.

While the majority of those capable of forming an opinion believe that the Germans by the stroke they have delivered against the British French and Belgians, are once again aiming at Dunkirk and Calais, there are others who believe that it is only a feint in force to draw the allies' reserves, while preparations are being made for an attack at some other point in the long line. Whatever are the intentions of the Germans they certainly made a successful coup, which while it did not break, did dent the allies' line. The Canadians who were holding the British portion of the lines, were the first to recover themselves and in a counter attack—the praises of which are ringing throughout the empire—recaptured the ground they had been compelled to give up and since then, with their comrades, have successfully withstood the German assaults.

The French and Belgians who received the blast in fuller force and were driven back across the canal between Boesinghe and Steenstraete were not much slower in recovering and, according to the French official press, succeeded in regaining possession of the canal banks and much of the surrendered territory to the east.

Do Not Be Little Success.

There is no inclination here, however, to be little the initial success of the German sweep and the work that is before the allied armies before the situation can be fully reversed. A writer in the Pall Mall Gazette, describes it as "a masterly tactical counter stroke" and declares "that if the Germans have waited long to take their revenge for Neuve Chapelle, they have taken it now."

By getting across the canal, it is pointed out that the Germans gained for the moment command of the new roads and if they had not been driven back would have forced a readjustment of the whole allied line in the region of Ypres.

The official reports throw little light on the progress of the battle, but news from Holland gives the information that the cannonade last night was more severe than ever and that long trains of German reinforcements going to the front are passing equally long trains of wounded bound for the base hospitals. There is no likelihood therefore that the battle will be over for some days to come, as the Germans have made immense preparations in men and material for their offensive which has forestalled that of the allies. That there is shortage of neither men or ammunition is shown by the fact that the Germans are at the same time operating an offensive in the heights of the Meuse, where they have made an unsuccessful attack, according to the French official report in an effort to recapture Les Eparges.

Austria Claims Success.

In the meantime the Austro-Germans have evolved a new movement in the Carpathians. Apparently they have withdrawn the force which has attempted to outflank the Russians in the direction of Stry and are attacking them in the neighborhood of Uzkoff Pass and to the east of that point. Austria claims to have gained a considerable success in the capture of additional heights and prisoners.

All that is known of the attack on the Dardanelles is contained in a brief report issued by the war office and admiralty this evening which simply says that in spite of serious opposition, troops have been successfully landed at various points on the Gallipoli peninsula and that their advance continues.

The attack is being made by the land, the sea and by the air. The allied airmen are playing an important part in the operations, in locating positions and dropping bombs on the Turkish guns and trenches and directing the fire of the warships which are covering the landing of the troops. The Russians are doing their share by making a demonstration against the forts at the Black Sea entrance of the Bosphorus.

Diplomatic Situation Obscure.

The diplomatic situation with respect to Italy and Greece remains obscure. It is known, however, that conversations are still proceeding between the German allies and Italy and it is reported that an agreement

War News Summarized

Five days of almost continuous fighting in that section of Flanders, of which Ypres is the center, has brought no end to the battle which began with a forward sweep of the Germans over a distance of several miles. The booming of the heavy guns was heard in Holland on Monday with greater force than on any of the preceding days, while all the official reports indicate there has been no cessation of the assaults by which the Germans hope to push their way through the allied lines or the counter-attacks by which the British, French and Belgians are striving to beat back their adversaries.

German headquarters tells of the capture of 1,000 Canadians and four thousand others, including English and French and their affiliated forces, and the taking of forty-five cannon. The British war office, in describing the readjustment of the British line, says it now runs to the south of St. Julien, which is in the hands of the Germans, and adds that severe fighting is still going on to the northeast of Ypres, although "the general situation remains unchanged."

The Germans also are attacking the strategic point of Les Eparges on the heights of the Meuse which fell into the hands of the French on April 10th after a series of desperate encounters, and they have succeeded in gaining possession of the summit of Hartmanns-Weilerkopf in the Vosges.

Under the cover of the guns of the fleet, the allies have disembarked the enemy at various points along the Gallipoli Peninsula on the European side of the Dardanelles and a general attack on the straits has been begun by land and sea forces. The Turks offered strong resistance to the landing of troops, but this, it is announced at London, was successfully accomplished.

Clauses of Austrian success in the Carpathians are chronicled by Vienna. Twenty-six Russian trenches containing much war material are said to have been captured by the Austrians and counter attacks in the vicinity of the Uzkoff Pass were repulsed with heavy casualties to the Muscovites.

DANIEL HURLEY IS CHARGED WITH MURDER OF ROLLER GIRL

Admits Purchasing Poison, But Declares He Bought Drug at the Request of Miss Roller.

Lincoln, Ill., April 26.—Daniel Hurley was arrested today on a charge of murdering Katherine Roller, 17 years old. The girl went into convulsions Saturday while riding in a buggy with Hurley. She died four hours later, after he had hurried to her home with the unconscious girl.

Hurley admitted, according to the police, that he purchased poison in Lincoln on Saturday, but after several evasive answers to questions the police say he declared he had bought the drug at the request of Miss Roller.

After State's Attorney C. E. Smith had placed a formal charge of murder against Hurley, the prisoner was held to the grand jury without bail. He contended all day under a severe examination by county and city officers that he did not cause the girl's death.

DRAW AN "IRON RING" ABOUT OBREGON'S ARMY

BATTLE IS EXPECTED SOUTH OF TORREON WITHIN A FEW DAYS

Villa Agency at Washington Says Carranza Commander is Completely Isolated From All Sources of Supplies and Reinforcements.

Washington, April 26.—The forces of Generals Villa and Obregon probably will meet in a second battle within a few days somewhere south of Torreon, according to a statement issued here tonight by the Villa agency. Villa is declared to have completed his concentration at Aguas Calientes, following his retreat from Irapuato, and the advance of the Zapatista forces from Mexico City is said to have drawn an iron ring about Obregon's army.

"General Obregon's army is at Leon, as claimed," the statement says, "but somewhere south of Irapuato." The agency is advised that General Obregon has not reached Irapuato. The next battle will be fought perhaps within a week.

"Obregon is now completely isolated from all sources of supplies and reinforcements. The Zapatista forces advancing from Mexico City upon Obregon's rear had welded together the iron ring with which the convention forces have been slowly enclosing Obregon. Interruption of the railroad between Pachuca and Tula completed the work of cutting off Obregon. He has no communication with Vera Cruz."

Advices to the state department today made little reference to the Villa-Obregon situation.

Mail advices from Sonora said conditions there were nearly normal with the exception of the Yaqui Valley district where the Yaqui Indians have been active and have recently attacked several foreign owned properties. "It is stated," said a state department summary, "that if the American companies in Sonora can be kept at work the situation of the poorer classes in the matter of food supplies will be greatly helped. The Creston Colorado is said to be trying to relieve the situation by accepting the flat money of the state at forty cents United States currency on the dollar."

AT THE GRAND.

"A regular show" expresses in urbane parlance a just appreciation of "Henpecked Henry," in which Jack Trainor stared at the Grand last night.

It was the troubles of a henpecked man raised to the ninety-fifth power and the comedy from beginning to end was clean cut, refined, and positively convulsing.

Jack Trainor enacted the little role with a great deal of finesse. He times the outbursts of the old man from the placid humility of a life-watcher in the first part of the play to the follower of chorus girls and buyer of champagne suppers later on. The show will be played again today, matinee and night.

THOMPSON TAKES OFFICE AS MAYOR OF CHICAGO

NEARLY 75,000 PEOPLE WELCOME HIM AT POPULAR INAUGURAL

Street Parade and Carnival Resemble Closing Days of the World's Fair—Instruct Healey that He Must Make Chicago Streets Safe.

Chicago, April 26.—William Hale Thompson, Republican, who defeated Robert M. Sweitzer for mayor of Chicago by more than 148,000 votes, the biggest plurality any mayoralty candidate here ever had, took his office today and was welcomed by a downtown street parade and carnival that resembled the closing days of the world's fair.

The new mayor took his office in the council chamber tonight but his popular inaugural was in the reviewing stand before the city hall in the afternoon when 75,000 automobiles with nearly 75,000 passengers passed by and welcomed him into office. The inauguration committee had designated the parade as a prosperity parade and the present plan is to make the celebration a yearly event during the Thompson term of office. The automobiles ranged from the pretentious, highly decorated floats of the big industrial to the tiny cars of the corner stores.

Parade Three Hours Long.

Although they whizzed by the reviewing stand at a rate that almost overcame the horsedrawn vehicles of which there were a number, it required more than three hours to pass.

It was much more of a carnival parade than a political procession and although the election by which Thompson had been made mayor had swept almost a complete Republican ticket in office there were hundreds of well known Democrats among the merry-makers.

Merchants were followed by manufacturers and these by social organizations, ward delegations, marching group by nationalities and even by races, there being several hundred in the Chinese division, their bright robes and beaded banners adding a touch of bright color. The displays of the commission merchants, nearly a mile of motors piled high with ripe oranges, bananas and other fruits, were sacrificed for the general holiday and many thousands of oranges and bananas were distributed among the thousands of bystanders.

Recognizes Many Intimates.

The records of the local transportation companies indicated that more than 350,000 persons had swarmed into the loop district less than one square mile. In spite of almost summer heat—the thermometer registered 87-8-10 degrees at 2 o'clock—not more than one or two prostrations were cared for by the police ambulances. There were no serious jams of traffic. Thompson, Mrs. Thompson, James A. Pugh and a half dozen of the new mayor's intimate friends were with him on the reviewing stand. Observers noted that he recognized intimates in nearly every one of the 7,500 cars and called a personal greeting to each. In spite of this his voice stood the strain so he spoke clearly when he took his office tonight. Mayor Thompson's final speech as a private citizen was to reiterate his campaign pledges as to the promised exodus of criminals.

Must Make Streets Safe.

"My only instruction to Captain Charles C. Healy, the new police chief, was that he must make the streets of Chicago safe to citizens and to visitors and that I am pledged to drive the crooks out of Chicago," he said. "They had better start before midnight, for by that time Captain Healy will be the chief and there will be trouble ahead for the thieves, holdups and pickpockets. They said the job of mayor is a political graveyard. Well, I'm going to be a good mayor even if I die for it."

The inauguration ceremonies tonight were accompanied by fireworks on the lake front and inaugural and prosperity balls in most of the downtown hotels.

LONERGAN BARN NEAR MURRAYVILLE DESTROYED BY FIRE SUNDAY

Structure Caught on Fire While Everyone was Away—Grain and Other Provisions go up in Smoke.

A fire which broke out at 12 o'clock in the barn of J. C. Lonergan, 2 1/2 miles southeast of Woodson, completely destroyed the building together with its contents. Mr. Lonergan and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lange, who kept house for him, were away from home and the fire was first discovered by Mrs. Joe Megginson. Her husband and Robert Smith were the first to arrive and some other neighbors came, having been summoned by George Staples, Woodson telephone manager, but nothing could be done to save the building.

There was burned 200 bushels of corn, one hundred bushels of threshed oats, one half ton of baled hay, half ton of straw, load of sheep, three sets of work harness. Fortunately Mr. Lonergan had turned his horses out in the pasture Sunday morning.

Mr. Lonergan carried no insurance on the building and the loss will be between $1,500 and $2,000.

JOHN W. SPRINGER MILLIONAIRE STOCKMAN IS TO WED AGAIN

Engagement to Mrs. Peggy Lotave of Denver has Just Been Announced.

A Denver special to the St. Louis Globe Democrat is as follows:

The engagement of John W. Springer, president of the Continental Trust Company, and millionaire stockman, who also has been the husband of two St. Louis women, to Mrs. Perry Lotave of Denver was announced yesterday at a tea given by Mrs. Lotave. A formal announcement is expected in a few days.

Springer's attentions to Mrs. Lotave have been marked for more than a year. The fact that the engagement has not been announced sooner is said to have been due to the recent death of Mrs. Lotave's mother.

Springer's second wife was the beautiful Isabelle Patterson of St. Louis, who was the central figure in the Henwood murder case.

Springer obtained a divorce from her a few weeks following the shooting and killing in the barroom of the Brown Palace Hotel, in 1911, of Sylvester L. Von Paul, the St. Louis aeronaut, by Frank Harold Henwood who is now serving a life term for the crime.

As the two trials of Henwood Isabelle Patterson Springer was the star witness for the defense.

Despite the revelations made, and that he had obtained a divorce from Mrs. Springer because of the alleged intimacy existing between Henwood and Mrs. Springer, Springer persisted in regarding Henwood as his friend, and when Henwood was sentenced to hang, Springer was largely instrumental in having the death sentence commuted by the governor to a life term.

Springer's first wife was a daughter of Col. W. E. Hughes, St. Louis millionaire realty and mining man. She died soon after the birth of a daughter, Anna Clifton Springer, who is now the wife of Lafayette Hughes of Denver, son of the late United States Senator Hughes.

Col. Hughes, after Springer's separation from his second wife, transferred a large part of his interests in Denver and Colorado, but later he sold out and returned to St. Louis.

GREGORY FARM SHOWS FINE MANAGEMENT

IS HOME OF FAMOUS REGISTERED PERCHERONS AND BERKSHIRES.

Laboratory Now An Important Department of This Big Farm Enterprise—Serum for Hog Cholera Is Produced With Most Scientific Methods—Plant a Model of its Kind.

Down at White Hall they'll tell you that the Gregory farm is one of the largest business enterprises in that part of the country, and so it seemed to a company of newspaper men from four counties—Brown, Greene, Morgan and Scott—who were visitors at the farm Monday. The newspaper men had been invited to inspect the farm and they were extended a most cordial welcome by W. S. Corsa and his brother, Dean Corsa. Those of them who did not go to White Hall in automobiles were met at the train, and the morning was spent viewing the fine Percheron stables and Berkshire hog pens and in the afternoon two hours were spent in looking over the laboratory or serum plant which is operated as a farm department.

Is Practically Conducted. The Corsa farm includes 1,127 acres. It is located a little more than a mile south of White Hall and is reached by a hard road which extends all the way from the main business portion of White Hall to the farm entrance. Part of the land, which has been in the Gregory name for almost a century, was entered by Mrs. Corsa's grandfather, and the property, although it has been added to from time to time, and more especially during the last fifteen years, through purchases made by W. S. Corsa, is still known as the Gregory farm. In fact, the name is one of its very valuable assets, as that name is known all over the United States, and abroad for that matter, because of the purebred stock raised there.

While Mr. Corsa has a splendid home and the buildings where the Percherons and Berkshires are housed are substantial, the visitor is impressed with the fact that the Gregory farm is not intended as a show place and that the purpose of the management is to conduct it along practical business lines. So the average farmer and stock man who inspects the farm sees improvements and conditions which are not beyond his mental grasp or beyond his financial ability.

Mr. Corsa lays special emphasis upon the breeding of Percherons and Berkshires, although he also keeps Shropshire sheep and Jersey cows. The dairy is on a paying basis and includes thirty or more registered cattle, but it constitutes a department of the farm which is considered of secondary importance. This is still more the case with the sheep that are kept, for they were purchased particularly for their value in keeping down weeds and sprouts. They are however, thoroughbreds, for that is the only kind of animal that Mr. Corsa's policy and theories will permit him to have about the place.

More recently the farm laboratory has become a very important department of the farm and in the ownership of the laboratory Dean Corsa is associated with his brother, W. S. Corsa. This plant is under the direct supervision of Dr. Giller, an experienced veterinarian, who spends his entire time looking after the laboratory and the Corsa stock. The plant represents an expenditure of $20,000 or more, and in its construction follows the most approved ideas in serum plants. It is built of reinforced concrete and is so designed that with the methods used the product can be placed on the market with an absolute guaranty as to its purity and efficacy in the prevention of hog cholera.

Marketing Serum. Mr. Corsa considers the addition of this plant as the most important step taken during recent years in placing the Gregory farm in a class by itself. The plant is of great value in the conduct of the general business of the farm, from the fact that it furnishes absolute insurance against hog cholera. The intention was first to produce serum only for Gregory farm use and later it was determined to so enlarge the plant that the product could be marketed. Practically all the hogs kept on the place are thoroughbred Berkshires, and all of them are immunized, so that any kind of a hog can be brought on the farm without endangering the stock already there.

Some idea of the size of the operations carried on by Mr. Corsa may be gained from the statement that the stable of Percherons with other horses on the place number 125; about 250 head of hogs are constantly on hand for use in connection with the laboratory, and these, with the other hogs on the place, part of them kept for sale purposes and others simply for feeding, total nearly a thousand. Then, as mentioned, there are thirty to forty cows and ninety to a hundred sheep.

Modern Farming Methods. While the Corsa farm is famous principally for its animal husbandry, Mr. Corsa farms according to the most approved methods. This year he has 300 acres for corn, a large part of it already planted. There are 100 acres in wheat, 70 acres in alfalfa and still further acreage is devoted to oats and some other crops, the remaining acres being in pasture land. The pastures are ideal for stock purposes as they are shaded to some extent, and yet covered with the heaviest blue grass that grows in central Illinois. Anyone who visits the Gregory farm and takes note of its products and the methods of management will agree that the conduct of such an enterprise requires a man of keen business ability, who is much of a scientist, and who has a thorough knowledge of agriculture and animal husbandry. Evidently Mr. Corsa meets these requirements, for he has prospered during the years and continues from time to time to add more acres to his already large holdings. While he spends practically all of his time at the Gregory farm, he and his associates also own a ranch of 2,800 acres in southern Nebraska, where particular attention is paid to the raising of hogs. The fact of the large number of hogs they raised in the west had something to do with the determination to develop the laboratory here, and serum is shipped from the Gregory farm plant to the Nebraska ranch, and in some other ways the two properties are operated along similar lines.

Great Percheron Stable. As already mentioned, the newspaper men spent part of the morning inspecting the stables where the fine Percherons are housed. The animals include Carnot, the famous French Percheron for which Mr. Corsa is said to have refused an offer of $25,000. The quarters of the finest Berkshires were also visited, and later in the pastures the visitors saw the young pigs which are to be sold at public sale Wednesday, May 12. This spring sale of Berkshires is a new feature at the Gregory farm although it has been contemplated for some time. Ordinarily the Berkshire sale in the fall is the only one of the year except the annual Percheron sale in December.

The visitors following the morning trip were entertained at dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Corsa in White Hall, and afterward went again to the Gregory farm where a very careful inspection of the laboratory was made. Some idea was gained by the visitors of the care used when each one was required to put on overshoes and to submit to a fumigation with permanganate of potash before entering the laboratory proper. Inside, Dr. Giller, W. S. Corsa and Dean Corsa explained minutely the various operations in the production of serum, and the employees, clad in white sanitary uniforms, gave a practical demonstration of the work which is being done. The hogs of the various classes are housed in pens all floored in solid concrete, and each visitor was impressed with the spotless and sanitary condition of the whole establishment.

It is somewhat difficult to explain in a few words the processes in the production of serum, and also to make clear just what is done when a hog is given the double vaccination against hog cholera. Virus and serum are used in this process. Virus is the blood which is obtained from a hog which has the cholera.

The Gregory Farm Plan.

At the Gregory farm laboratory great emphasis is laid upon the fact that their plan of buying perfectly well hogs and injecting virus from cholera hogs is a much safer plan than is followed by the serum plants established near stock yards where only sick hogs are purchased. At the Gregory farm healthy hogs are bought and injected with the blood of cholera hogs. Then their blood adds to the supply of virus and their bodies are sent over to the vat where after a certain portion of grease has been taken for soap they are reduced to tankage which is fed to hogs on other parts of the farm. In making the serum an immune hog is taken and injected with a quantity of virus. This is done by opening a vein in the ear and forcing the virus or blood with compressed air. Then the animal is watched carefully and its temperature taken each day. Usually about sixteen days after this operation the temperature is back to normal and then the hog is strapped to an operating table, the end of its tail cut off and the blood taken into a bottle. This operation is repeated after another interim of 12 to 15 days and ten days later the hog is slaughtered and more blood is obtained from its throat. The carcass is dressed and shipped under supervision of a government inspector.

The laboratory has special rooms equipped for all of these operations and the most rigid rules for cleanliness are observed. In the laboratory the equipment includes a sterilizing oven when every instrument and all materials used are "baked." Adjoining the laboratory room is the storage department which by the use of ice in an overhead refrigerator keeps the atmosphere at the necessary temperature. It is very evident from the scientific, painstaking methods that are pursued in the Gregory laboratory that the owners determined when they established it that this department must be as dependable and have the same reputation for genuine value and high quality that have long been associated with the standing of other departments of the farm. In other words any product of the Gregory farm has the official O. K. of the owners and that is sufficient for those who know the Messrs. Corsa and their farm.

The cities and newspapers represented were as follows: Bluffs—Times; E. D. Beird and Roy Beird. Carrollton—Patriot; Charles Bradshaw.

Greenfield—Argus; B. H. Haven. Jacksonville—Farm; J. H. Hackett; Courier; E. G. Sayre; Journal. J. W. Walton. Mt. Sterling—Mail; Paul Reddick. Roadhouse—Herald; W. F. Thompson; Record; Frank Merrill. Blairgrove in his car and were greatly indebted to him for the courtesy. Mr. Bell and Mr. Pearce of White Hall, added the Messrs. Corsa in extending cordiality to the visitors.

CANVASSING THE RETURNS SOME PECULIAR OMISSIONS

The city council met in adjourned session at two p. m. yesterday to canvass the returns of the recent election. They looked over half the poll books and tally sheets and adjourned till this morning. Two peculiar omissions were found but they will probably not change the result no matter how the matter may be decided.

In precinct number four the clerks had reported the total number of votes for the candidates for mayor but the sheet showed no tallies as was the case with the records of the votes for the other officers. Just how they arrived at the conclusions reported is not definitely known at the present time. This was at Henderson's store in the first ward.

In precinct No. 6, second ward, there were no tallies for members of the board of education and none for either of the questions submitted to the voters for decision.

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation, poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" if oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrup. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

DAYS OF OLD ARE MADE TO LIVE AGAIN

LITERARY UNION HOLDS 51ST ANNIVERSARY MEETING.

Founders of Society Subject of Interesting Reminiscence at Hands of Dr. A. B. Morey and Dr. T. J. Pitner—Union Hospitably Entertained at Fairview.

Members and friends of the Literary Union were entertained Monday evening by Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Pitner of Fairview at one of the most pleasurable annual meetings of recent years. The event marked the fifty-first anniversary of the Union and in the biographical sketches read by Dr. A. B. Morey and Dr. Pitner the very past was made to live again. Descendants of the early members were numbered among the guests and sons and daughters of present members assisted the hosts in the serving of the luncheon. The papers by Dr. Morey and Dr. Pitner were preceded by the invocation by the Rev. J. W. Miller and followed by W. D. Wood in the annual report of the secretary. Dr. Carl E. Black as retiring president delighted the company with some pointed criticisms of Jacksonville life the form of Coasters from former citizens and L. O. Vaughn, the incoming president, spoke in happy vein on the theme "Compensation." Present from a distance were Mrs. B. M. Griffith of Springfield, mother of the hostess, and Lee J. Pitner of Chicago, a former resident of the city and a cousin of Dr. Pitner. Dr. E. L. Crouch, A. T. Capps and Dr. Black composed the committee in charge of the annual meeting. Flowers from the environs of Fairview graced the rooms of the Pitner home and the faultless dinner appointments made complete an evening of unmixt enjoyment.

Some of the Founders.

"Dr. Layman M. Glover," said Dr. Morey, "thirty-two years pastor of the First Presbyterian church was among the charter members. He was called the pioneer of our society. All through life he was frail in body but vigorous in mind. He contributed much of his best thinking to the Union."

The Rev. R. W. Allen was born of Scotch-Irish stock and had all the grit of the Scotch and all the humor of the Irish. One of the rarest powers possessed by any one is the power to state a fact. It seems a very simple thing to tell the truth, but nothing is so difficult. Dr. Allen had that great faculty: to comprehend a fact in its exact relations and rotate it in the language that represents it as it is.

Dr. N. N. Wood was a Baptist minister and his mind ran mainly in the channel of logic, where he had few equals.

"The Rev. W. H. Milburn, 'the Blind Man Eloquent' the chaplain of congress, was occasionally present at the meetings of the Union. With his great descriptive powers he could tell what a blind man saw in England." With his inimitable manner he had the power to put life into the dead past.

"Dr. W. W. Harsha, pastor of the Presbyterian church, was sound in the core, entrenched in the oldest orthodoxy. He was strong in his convictions and yet liberal, tolerant of others' opinions and genial towards all. He had a natural liking for literature and was the author of several books which had a large sale."

"The Rev. William Barnes, a graduate of Yale, came into the Union to keep himself thinking along current lines. He was rich in reminiscence and amused us with personal characteristics of the eminent people he had met."

A Peerless Thinker.

"Judge Cyrus Epler was a deep thinker. His long life in the practice of law gave him a keen, alert, well balanced mind and brought the habit of weighing thoroughly all matters. He had a deep sense of justice and his constant thinking led him into the very thicket of the most puzzling problems."

"Dr. H. W. Milligan was one of our model members and our secretary for many years. He was a veritable Union in himself and kept the organization alive when it was gasping for breath. One year there were fifty-three Mondays and he attended fifty-three meetings of the Union. His faithfulness to the Union was an index finger pointing to his faithfulness in every station in life and made him the useful citizen that he was."

"Prof. E. F. Bullard was one of the punctual and active members of the Union. He was conservative in his opinions but radical in the expression of them. Prof. Bullard was of such fine feeling that he could detect a change in the intellectual weather of our meetings and put ozone in the atmosphere for the benefit of all of us."

Dr. Pitner's Paper.

"The plan of our Union throws open a wide field for investigation and discussion," quoted Dr. Pitner, "from the address of Judge William Brown, the first president. 'Politics, theology, education, philosophy, science, art, music and poetry—all invite you.'"

"I knew Judge Brown well," continued Dr. Pitner, "and was often a guest at his hospitable home on West State street, the house occupied by the family of the late Edward S. Greenleaf, and recently burned. Elisha W. Brown was also a charter member of the Union. William Brown, Jr., a son of Elisha Brown, was a charter member but discontinued his membership on removal from the city. He was a lawyer of marked ability and widely known and recognized as a leading member of the Illinois bar."

Hiram K. Jones was one of the founders of the Literary Union. He was our strongest member, a man of wide range of original thought, with a philosophic turn of mind. There was always somebody stirred up when Dr. Jones talked. It required courage to challenge his position. Dr. Jones was born near Harper's Ferry, Va., removing in his youth to Missouri, whence he came to Jacksonville in the early 50's as acting superintendent of the Hospital for the Insane.

Dr. P. G. Gillett was among those who organized the Union. He was first secretary and for the long period of thirty-seven years was the capable and widely known superintendent of the School for the Deaf. Dr. Gillett was generous and gave gladly of his time and means to various benevolences. He gave valuable service also in civic matters and was a fluent and forcible speaker, commanding respectful attention. Dr. J. T. McFarland was a profound thinker and a great preacher and teacher of teachers.

"It was my good fortune to know S. R. Capps when I first came here as a student at Illinois college, where he had graduated a few years before. He became a member in June, 1864 but resigned his active relation to the union shortly afterwards. It was not from lack of interest he left but from the pressure of other duties. After the death of his father in 1872, Stephen Capps became the head of the firm, (now company), of J. Capps & Sons, which largely from his unremitting attention and efficient management has grown to the large establishment which we now know."

Others of the Old Guard.

Professor John H. Woods was one of the founders of the Union and among its most literary men. He knew more about books and their contents than any other member or than any other citizen of Jacksonville.

Professor John Loomis was by profession a teacher and in the later years of his life taught in the school for the blind.

Prof. B. F. Mitchell was principal of the Jacksonville Female academy and also a charter member.

The Rev. T. N. Morrison was not present at the first meeting but by previous invitation was considered a member. He was rector of Trinity church for some years, removing from Jacksonville to Bloomington and later to Chicago.

Dr. Charles Adams became a member a few weeks after organization of the society. On the same evening, June 2, 1864, Stephen R. Capps and W. S. Andrus were elected to membership.

The Union had a Wood and a Woods as members. John H. Wood was cashier of Brown Bros. bank. He took an active part in the organization and subsequent until his removal from the city about two years later.

Dr. Charles Fisher was one of the original members. He was a prominent practitioner of medicine in this city for over twenty years. He removed to Los Angeles, Cal., on account of the poor health of his wife who later died there.

Dr. W. F. Short became a member in 1868 at the time he came here as pastor of the Grace church. He remained in that position three years which was then the limit in the itinerant Methodist ministry. He was then appointed presiding elder of the Jacksonville district which place he occupied for five years until his election as president of the Woman's college. Here he devoted eighteen years, the best part of his life to the higher education of young women, a work for which he was well fitted.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Scott, who now holds the position of cashier in the North Platte state bank, was a classmate of Dr. Applebee at Northwestern university and at former fellow townsman in Cuba, Fulton county. The marriage ceremony was said Saturday evening in St. James Episcopal church, St. Louis.

WITH THE SICK.

William Masters, assessor and treasurer, who has been taking treatment for rheumatism, is able to be out.

CORONER HOLDS INQUEST OVER BODY OF MRS. BRIDGET TUBBS

Sudden Death Was Due to Cardiac Weakness Following Pneumonia—Funeral Today.

Mrs. Bridget Ryan Tubbs, widow of Timothy Tubbs, died very sudden and unexpectedly at 4:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the family residence three miles southwest of Litchberry. She had been suffering from the grip for several weeks, and on Sunday morning was taken with a fainting spell, and again while at the dinner table had a second one. As she did not appear to recover, but was growing worse Dr. A. E. Obermeyer, was summoned from Litchberry. Mrs. Tubbs passed away a few moments after the arrival of the doctor.

Bridget Ryan was born on the island of Capri, off the coast of Ireland 74 years ago. In 1860 she was united in marriage to Timothy Tubbs, who preceded her in death some 14 years ago. She is survived by her children, Jerry and Patrick and Misses Nora and Mary, who have resided at the home of their mother and Mrs. C. T. Pearson of Springfield. For the past several years the deceased has been mentally unbalanced.

Inquest Held. Owing to the suddenness of the death the coroner was notified and deputy John M. Carroll went to the residence and impounded a jury composed of J. H. Lindsay, foreman; E. M. Read, A. E. Obermeyer, Frank Read, J. H. O'Donnell and J. M. Carroll, clerk. The testimony of Dr. A. E. Obermeyer and Miss Nora Tubbs was heard and a verdict rendered that death was caused by cardiac weakness following an attack of pneumonia.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock this morning in the church of Our Savior and interment will be made in Calvary cemetery. Friends are requested to omit flowers.

BETTER BABIES. The crusade for better babies has spread from coast to coast, and taken firm hold of American Mothers. Few women realize how much the ill health of the mother influences the unborn child, both physically and mentally. Women who suffer from mysterious pains, backache, nervousness, mental depression, headaches, etc., should rely on Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, which for nearly forty years has been the standard remedy for these ailments.—Advertisement.

YOUNG SOCIETY MATRON LAYS DOWN RULES

In discussing the approaching social season, a young matron says that the success of every event, whether in home, church or club, depends upon the foresight of the women months before.

The brilliancy, charm and success of a party is largely dependent upon the physical condition of the hostess. She cannot be entertaining witty or clever, if she is loaded down with all the complaints a woman is heir to; and very few are free from the functional troubles which bring with them dizziness, backache, sick headache, sleeplessness and intense nervousness.

Thousands upon thousands of mothers, wives and daughters in every section of this great country, who have regained health, vigor and cheerful disposition after months of misery and even despair are the ones who truly appreciate the marvelous restorative power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Every woman who has reason to believe that backache, headache, unnatural pains, low spirits, sleepless nights, irregularities or a catarrhal condition is caused by a derangement of the womanly functions, owes it to herself and dear ones to speedily overcome the trouble before a general breakdown causes permanent prostration.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a remedy that any ailing woman can safely take because it is prepared with pure glycerine from roots and herbs, containing tonic properties of the most pronounced character and without alcohol.

Get Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription today, either in liquid or tablet form, at any dealer in medicines, if you want to better your physical condition surely and speedily. Every ingredient in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is printed along with the directions.

Every ailing woman should write today for confidential advice to a specialist who has had years of experience in treating diseases peculiar to women. His advice is given without charge, and writing places you under no obligation whatever. Simply address Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and write: "Dear Doctor: Please send me without charge, further information." 136 page book on "Woman and Her Diseases" sent free.—Adv.

EUROPEAN WAR NOTES

London, April 26—(8:50 p. m.)—King George has opened with a donation of $2,500 a subscription list of the British committee for relief in Belgium.

Vienna, via London, April 26—(8:45 p. m.)—The following official statement was issued by the war office today:

"In the Carpathians in the sector east of Uzok Pass the fighting continues. We captured yesterday a new vantage point to the southeast of Kozlowa, taking several officers and more than a thousand men prisoners."

"In order to regain the height which they had lost the Russians made several counter attacks and also attacked the neighboring districts, especially the height of Osty and a position to the east of Osty. All the attacks were repulsed with heavy Russian losses. Two Russian battalions were almost completely annihilated and one hundred prisoners were taken."

"Our troops pursuing the enemy, occupied 26 Russian trenches which contained much war material. The Russians before Uzok Pass, after their attack failed retreated in full flight. We gained ground to the southeast of Kozlowa."

"To the west of Uzok pass in Galicia, Poland and on the Dniester in Bukowina, there have been only artillery engagements."

London, April 26—(5:27 p. m.)—The Canadian who fought so valiantly and lost so heavily in the recent fighting near Ypres, Belgium, went in most cases 48 and in some instances 72 hours without food. Most of their officers were lost. This was learned from a young wounded Canadian who arrived in England today from the continent.

"When we received orders to attack the enemy's trenches, some 500 yards away", he said, "2,500 of us rushed the wood where I supposed there was 5,000 Germans. We were first mowed like sheep by their artillery but we soon drove them from the trenches in front of the wood and then went right through."

"There they were surrounded which forced us to retire to the trenches we had taken, where we dug ourselves in. We remained there till the next morning, under shell fire until finally we were relieved by reinforcements."

He said that the Canadians not only recovered the guns they had lost to the Germans but found three French howitzers which the Germans had taken. These the Canadians blew up and rendered useless.

"At one point we surrounded sixty Germans, 45 of whom we bayoneted," he continued. "I saw one German officer blow out his brains. It is impossible to estimate the number of German dead but German searchlights worked all night trying to locate them."

"We had the Prussia guards in front of us."

Paris, April 26—(10:45 p. m.)—The following official news was issued by the war department tonight:

To the north of Ypres on the left bank of the battle front we have made very sensible progress and have driven back the enemy inflicting on him heavy losses. The Germans have employed a new asphyxiating gas but a means of protection has been put into service which has given the best of results among our Belgian allies and ourselves.

A spirited infantry engagement has taken place near Chaulnes for the possession of an excavation. Our troops dislodged the enemy from it and have maintained the position notwithstanding two counter-attacks.

In Champagne, near Beaunejour, the Germans attempted an attack which was immediately answered. On the heights of the Meuse, the attacks of the Germans in front comprising Les Erparges, St. Remy and the trench of Calonne have suffered a complete check. Despite the extreme violence of the German effort, we remain masters of the whole of the position at Les Erparges, the slopes of which are covered with bodies of dead Germans.

At the trench of Calonne, our withdrawal of the day before yesterday which was temporary and in which we suffered the loss of not a single cannon was immediately followed by successful counter-attacks on our part. The Germans delivered their attack not with less than two divisions.

"In the Vosges, the enemy, after a bombardment of extreme violence, succeeded in gaining a foothold on the summit of Hartmann's-Muljenkopf. We occupy at a distance of about 100 metres from the summit the positions from which we carried out our attack on March 23, and it was from those positions that we set out on the 26th to capture the summit by an assault which lasted seven minutes."

THE MAGNATE

The magnate, in these modern days, is but a timid, nervous wretch; he trembling goes his destined ways, as though pursued by old Jack Ketch. The legislatures of the west have robbed him of his cherished goat, and in the east he has no rest—reformers have him by the throat. If you would rise in politics, the way is easy, smooth and broad; just slug the magnate with some bricks, and all the Peepul will applaud. Investigate him every day, and harry him by methods raw, and make him fool his wealth away, with foolish suits in courts of law. Appoint a dozen crazy "boards" to hamper and restrict his biz; no sympathy the world affords to him or anything of his. It's safe the magnate to abuse, to vilify and bullyrag, and then the Peepul will enthuse, and say you've saved Your Country's Flag. And so the magnate slinks along, with none to cheer him or defend, the man who's always in the wrong, who seeks in vain to find a friend. You ask what is the magnate's crime, that every edgel on him breaks? He made this nation great, sublime, and so we hate him worse than snakes.

PHILLIES HIT STRAND HARD; DEFEAT BRAVES

ALEXANDER FANS TEN BATSMEN

Both of Boston's Errors Prove Costly—Cincinnati Defeats Cubs After Chicago had Overcome a Nine Run Lead.

Cincinnati, 10, April 26.—After Chicago had managed to overcome a nine run lead Cincinnati by steady playing and consistent hitting in the seventh and eighth innings tied up and passed the visitors, eventually winning. Cincinnati's big inning came in the first when with five hits, two bases on balls and two sacrifices it scored seven runs.

Face Eruptions Have Deep Significance

Often They Indicate Impurities Deep in the Tissues.

The results shown by S. S. S. in clearing the skin reveal how searching and how deeply this famous blood purifier attacks blood troubles. Facial eruptions are more often significant of impaired nutrition resulting from faulty elimination of body wastes. Most people realize this to be true. And yet it is a difficult matter to convince such people they should avoid those harmful drugs such as mercury, iodide of potash, arsenic and so on. S. S. S. gives just as good effect without the destructive results, because it is more searching. It goes deeply into the circulation wherever the blood flows, but it does not remain to clog the system. And its effect is complete and thorough as indicated by blood tests. One of the strange things today is that so many people are wedded to the notion that mercury is the one antidote. It is not so. There is in S. S. S. a product of nature that is rated one of the most potent principles known for the complete elimination of blood troubles.

Wherever you go there are people who know this to be true from their own experience, for it has been clearly shown there is one ingredient in S. S. S. as essential to health if the blood be impure as the nourishing elements of the grains, sugars and salts of our daily food. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist, but insist upon S. S. S. accept no substitute. And if your case is peculiar or of long standing, write to the Medical Adviser, The Swift Specific Co., 101 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

FRANK MANN'S SOIL BOOK

"A Fertile Soil Is The Basis of Profitable Farming"

(Authority for the publication of this and succeeding chapters of Frank Mann's book secured from Prairie Farmer Publishing Company.)

A Home-Made Phosphate Spreader.

(By Frank L. Mann.)

Reprinted from Prairie Farmer, September 1, 1911.

The following is a bill of material and details of different parts for a machine for distributing fertilizers. By having the different iron parts made at a blacksmith shop, any one with a few tools can make the wood parts and assemble all the parts into a machine. This is for a machine that will spread eight feet wide, and is taken from a machine that has been used quite successfully for several years. A wider machine can be made on the same general plan, but the swing on wider machines makes the extra width of doubtful value.

The Materials Necessary.

Bill of materials—2 1-in.x10 in. 10-ft. boards; 2 1-in.x12-in. 10-ft. boards; 3 4x4x8-ft. 8-in.; 2 4x4x44-in.; 1 4x4x3-ft. 6-in. hardwood; 2 2x4x4-ft. 2 in.; 1 1/2-in. square shaft 7 ft. 12 in. long; 4x1-in. iron 7 ft. 10 in.; 20 ft. 4x1 in. strap iron; heavy sheet iron 7 in.x 8 ft.; heavy iron 2 in.x 8 ft. 6 in. 2 1/2 in.x 8 ft. 6 in. strap iron; 1 piece wagon tire 4 ft.; 1 5-16 in.x 8 ft. round iron; mower wheels with ratchet and shaft; disc trucks.

Iron work—Weld piece of round mower shaft to each end of square 1 1/2 in. shaft, so that no more than 7 ft. 10 in. is left square; put on mower wheels so that the hub containing hole to rivet to shaft is on the outside or next to end of shaft; set wheels so the distance between inside hubs is 8 ft. 9 in.; drill hole in shaft to match hole in hub of wheel, having each wheel equally distant from square part of shaft.

Just How to Make the Parts.

Make 16 pieces out of 4x1 in. iron; each piece 4 in. long, distance between centers of holes 3 1/2 in., with hole 5-16 in.; shoulders to be 1 1/2 in. apart and 1/2 in. deep to fit on square shaft in pairs with 1/4 in. strap between. Drill 5-16 in. holes in two 4x7 ft. 9 in. straps 3 in. from each end, and two holes equally distant between.

In the other paid of 4x7 ft. 9 in. straps, drill holes 4 1/2 in. from each end, with two holes equally distant between. Put clamps on shaft and bolt on straps with 5-16 in. bolts 1/4 in. long.

Make hopper box 22 in. high, 5 in. inside at bottom and 2 ft. wide on top. In each end bore hole for shaft to center 2 1/2 in. from bottom of hopper. One end of hopper should be bolted into place or temporarily nailed, as shaft with reel must be put in place before end is fastened permanently.

Construction of the Hopper.

The bottom of hopper and slide make of the sheet iron pieces. The sheet iron 7 in.x 8 ft. should be heavy, even up to 3-16 in. thick, but the 3-in. piece need not be so heavy.

For temporary purposes rivet the two pieces together, the narrow piece in the middle of the wider, and even at one end. Mark out for holes about 8 in. between centers, with end holes 4 in. from each end of hopper box.

With a 1-in. drill drill two holes as close together as possible, then chisel and rasp out till there is a smooth hole 1 in. 2 in., the length of the hole being with the length of the hopper. Separate the pieces of sheet iron and drill a few screw holes in the edge of the wider piece, and fasten to the bottom of the hopper box with screws.

On each side of the bottom is fastened a strip of wood 1/2 in.x 1/2 in. fastening with nails through the screw holes into the side of the hopper box. These two pieces should be just far enough apart to leave room for the cut-off slide. Four pair of straps similar to wagon box straps 2 ft. long, rounded and threaded about 2 in. at one end, should be bent to fit the hopper, extending an inch below the bottom piece.

Four pieces made from old wagon tire, with 2 1/2 in. holes 7 in. apart with a piece 1/2 in.x 3 in. riveted to the middle. This piece should fit on the box straps, and should be the support of the cut-off slide.

The cut-off slide should be reinforced by riveting on each edge 1/2 in. iron strap; 3 ft. 4 in. from left end is riveted a piece of iron that will project forward past the box about 2 in.

Hard Wood for the Shaft Boxes.

A partial partition can be placed about the middle of the box, and rods made of 5-16 in. iron can be put at each end and in the middle to hold box well together and so make more substantial.

Boxing for shaft can be made of any hardwood, but osage is the best. Make boxes about 4x1 ft. Bore hole to fit shaft and fasten the boxing temporarily to each end of hopper box, having hole in boxing match hole in hopper. Bolt 1x1x14-in. on boxing to extend 4 in. to rear of hopper, and bolt hopper box to this 1x1.

Fit and bolt 4x1 on rear of hopper, and also on front, but first cut a place for lever 42 inches from left end about 6 in. wide and 1 in. deep. Complete frame by bolting 4x4 on front end of the side 4x4's and bolt hardwood stub tongue in middle of frame, and using the 2x4's for braces to each end of box. Attach common disc truck to stub tongue. Make hand lever from wagon tire, 3 ft. long with rounded handle at one end and fork at other end to fit gudgeon on cut-off slide; drill hole 1 1/2 in. from fork end and fasten lever with bolt through 4x4 frame at notch in same.

3 1/2 in. board nailed on front side of top of hopper can be used by driver. A piece of sheet iron can be notched and fastened on top as a guide to the lever.

Capacity of the Machine. When wide open this machine will spread one ton per acre, and when half open will spread 1,000 pounds phosphate per acre. However, the amount spread varies somewhat with fineness of grinding, speed of horses, manner of handling material, etc.

Enough material should be kept in the machine all the time to keep reel covered. It is necessary sometimes to remove the cut-off slide and clean out the material that works in between the slide and bottom of box. If it is desired to spread more than one ton per acre, the holes can be increased in length. Four in. holes will spread about three tons per acre.

After reading the foregoing directions, Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins of the University of Illinois makes two suggestions. One of these is that the machine should be made to cover a strip 8 feet 3 inches wide, which is exactly one half a rod, so that one round on a half mile land, or two rounds on an 80-rod land covers exactly one acre. It may be that Mr. Mann counts that his machine, although made only 8 feet in length, will really spread phosphate over 8 feet three inches. It is an iron point, but it is very satisfactory to the farmer to have every thing made so it helps him to measure the acres as he covers them.

The other point is to make the directions such that the machine will be made with the holes large enough so that it can be set to sow three tons instead of only one ton. There would be no disadvantage in having the machine made to have a large capacity and adjustable, as it is, for any smaller capacity.

HISTORY OF JEWIST NATION BEFORE CHRIST SUBJECT OF SERMON

The subject of the "Through the Bible" series at the First Baptist church Sunday morning was "The History of the Jewish Nation B. C." There was a large and interested audience to greet the pastor, the Rev. Percy W. Stephens, who spoke in part as follows:

"When Disraeli was scoffed at by an English peer because of his Jewish birth he said, 'Sir, you are proud of your ancient descent; but in the veins of the meanest Jew there flows blood compared to which the blood of the proudest noble is but ditch water.'"

"The origin of this wonderful nation can be found in Genesis 12:1-3, and its history before Christ can be divided into four parts of almost equal divisions of just over 400 years. They are the patriarchal period, the theocratic period, the monarchial period, and the period of captivity and dispersion.

"This nation has been known under three names. They are called Hebrews after an immediate ancestor of Abraham whose name was Eber. They are called Israelites after Jacob whose name was changed to Israel. And they are called Jews after the tribe of Judah. During the patriarchal and theocratic periods they were known as Hebrews, during the monarchial period as Israelites, but during the dispersion as Jews, and as such to this day.

"At the close of the monarchial period the ten tribes which formed the northern kingdom were taken into captivity to Assyria, while some years later the two other tribes which formed the southern kingdom were taken captive into Babylon.

"Many think that the ten tribes have been 'lost', and have sought to associate them with the American Indian, or the colored race, or the Anglo-Saxons. Professor Totten gives 69 arguments in his endeavor to prove that the Saxons are the 'lost tribes of Israel' while a Mr. Hines gives 47 identification marks to corroborate his 'Anglo-Israel' theory.

"Professor Totten says that the word Saxon comes from the Hebrew word Saac which is nothing more than the word Isaac with the initial 'I' dropped, according to a common custom of the Israelites to allow the introduction of an affix, in this case 'on', rendering it Saxon, meaning Son of Isaac! Delightful reasoning!

"Another argument is that the stone of Bethel, the stone of witness between Jacob and his God can now be found in the coronation chair of Great Britain.

"Another is that Jeremiah fled in barges with two daughters of Zedekiah to an island of the sea. That island must have been Ireland, seeing the name Jerry and other Jewish names are so common in that country.

"An excellent reply has been made to these speculations by a Jewish scholar who is a Christian man, David Baron, in which ample proof is given that the Jews we know today represent the twelve tribes, and not merely the two. God has wonderfully preserved this people, and the fact that for so many centuries they have been mingling and yet never mixing with the nations of the world strengthens our belief in the prophetic scriptures which state that they are yet to be restored and made a mighty power and blessing to the world."

The subject of Mr. Stephens' sermon next Sunday morning will be "The True Church, Its Members and Its Mission", and will deal with this present age, which will close with the second coming of Christ.

What They Say About Prairie Farmer's Hog Book.

Quotations from letter from C. A. Rowe, Jacksonville, Ills. Morgan county.

"The Prairie Farmer Hog Book is concise, attractive and practical."

You are to be congratulated on getting out such a high class piece of work as PRAIRIE FARMER'S HOG BOOK. I want every man in the office here to have a copy.

Iowa Experiment Station, John M. Evvard. I am going to build some of the self-feeders described in PRAIRIE FARMER'S HOG BOOK for use on our country farm. This plan of feeding looks good to me.

W. G. Eckhardt, County Adviser, DeKalb County, Ill.

Clifford V. Gregory, editor of the PRAIRIE FARMER, Chicago, has written a splendid little hand book on hogs that is exactly what it purports to be—"Common sense suggestions that will help any farmer to make more money from his hogs."

The Banker-Farmer.

Why You Want This Book

1. It is a farmer's book, written especially for the man who is raising hogs for market. The whole book deals with problems that the pork raiser has to meet.

2. It is a new book just off the press, and everything in it is up-to-date. It gives reliable information on such subjects as self-feeders, forage crops, hogging down corn, etc., that are hardly mentioned in older hog books.

3. It is written by the editor of PRAIRIE FARMER, especially for middle west hog raisers. It is a book that is fresh and up-to-date, and written especially to fit Illinois conditions.

Any person who sends $1.00 to PRAIRIE FARMER will receive that paper 3 years and is entitled to one of the Hog Books—128 pages, a flexible cover that won't come off, 30 pages of attractive illustrations. The book will be sent to you and PRAIRIE FARMER to another address if you ask. Or your own subscription will be extended 3 years from the time it is now paid to. ALL PROTEINS
ARE NOT ALIKE

TIME COMES WHEN FEEDERS MUST TAKE THIS INTO ACCOUNT.

Scientists Have Discovered Why Certain Proteins Are Incomplete—Number of Amino-Acid Units in Each Is Found to be Highly Variable.

(By W. E. Joseph, Associate in Animal Husbandry, University of Illinois.)

Th time has come when the practical feeder must take into account the fact that all proteins are not alike in their nutritive value. Thus it has long been known that an animal cannot live on a ration which contains gelatin as the sole protein even though the ration is satisfactory in all other respects. Such a protein may be called incomplete from the nutritive standpoint. In the same way it has been found that zein, the principal protein of the corn grain, is also incomplete. Gliadin, the principal protein of the wheat kernel, is satisfactory for maintenance, but not for growth. On the other hand the proteins of milk—casein and lactalbumin—are satisfactory for maintenance or growth when either make up the total protein of the ration. Such proteins may be called complete from the nutritive standpoint. In this same class may be placed the proteins second in amount in the corn and wheat grains—the so-called glutelins.

It has been discovered why certain proteins are incomplete. All proteins are known to consist essentially of a series of units which are called amino acids. The number of these units in different proteins is variable. In some cases there are known to be at least seventeen different kinds, while in other cases there are less. Thus not all proteins contain all of the units. Certain of these units may be lacking in a given protein without interfering with its food value, but if certain others are not contained in the protein eaten by an animal the life of the animal cannot be maintained; and there is one unit which may be lacking in the ration without interfering with maintenance but the animal cannot grow without a supply of this unit. Thus, gelatin is incomplete because it lacks two of the essential units. Zein of corn lacks two important units one of which is essential for growth and the other of which is essential for maintenance and growth. Casein and lactalbumin contain all of the units essential for either maintenance or growth and are therefore satisfactory as the sole protein in the ration.

It has been found that the protein which contain all of essential units may contain them in widely different proportions. This point is of vital importance in compounding rations. Thus if the stockman is using a feed which is low in a certain essential unit of the protein he should supplement it with a feed which contains a protein high in that unit. Thus various combinations of feeds are found to vary greatly in their efficiency in producing gains. For example it is generally recognized that corn and skim milk make an ideal ration for growing pigs. Corn alone, on the other hand, makes a very poor ration for pigs. One of the prime reasons why skim milk makes such an excellent supplement to corn is the high content of the units of protein which are lacking or are present only in small quantity in corn. Meat products and by-products of high protein content likewise contain considerable amounts of those units which are low in corn. We find as a result that these feeds are efficient supplements to corn. Wheat and corn by-products are found to contain somewhat less of these units and as a result we find them to be less efficient as supplements to corn—that is, more of the feeds and more protein must be eaten to supply the necessary amount of a certain unit. Thus we have one of the explanations of the efficiency of certain feeds as supplements to corn.

Now we might go on to enumerate other examples and give further reasons why particular feeds are efficient as supplements to corn or similar feeds, but the data is thus far incomplete. There is need of more work along this line to throw light on the question of the best methods in our feeding practice and to explain the results which are now obtained.

Thus it may be seen that it is not only important to keep the amount of protein up to the required standard but it is also necessary to provide the essential units or amino acids which make up the protein in amounts sufficient for the purpose for the purpose for which they are fed.

CODIFYING LAW
GOVERNING BILLS

LAW OF NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS SHOWS GREAT VARIATION.

Continental Variation Codes Differ From Each Other and English Codes Differ Further—Diversified Legislation Not Without Advantages.

(By C. G. Vernier, Professor of Law, University of Illinois.)

One of the advantages of our form of government, namely by a common organization embracing semi-sovereign states is that it affords an opportunity for each state to make laws for its own peculiar needs, or fancied needs. The satisfaction of indulging in legislation to cure evils which exist only in fancy, acts as a safety valve at any time, and a state may at any time become the pioneer in the promotion of legislation to be later widely copied by sister states. This diversity of opinion is possible not only in legislation but also in the adjudication of points of the common law by the courts of the various states. Out of this diversity of opinion much good may come.

On the other hand this possibility of diversified views has its drawbacks. After all we are one nation and uniformity is in some respects more valuable than the possibility of living under laws made and interpreted in accordance with our own peculiar views. To a certain extent this uniformity is provided for in our common federal organization. But the federal constitution does not authorize congress to legislate on some subjects where uniformity of rule seems desirable. One of these subjects by almost common consent is the law of negotiable instruments. In its origin (as shown in previous article) the law of commercial paper was the common possession of the entire civilized world, so that there was worldwide uniformity. But later the law of England and that of the continent of Europe developed along different lines. The American states, while following in general the rule prevailing in England, made many modifications. With more than fifty American jurisdictions, including states, the District of Columbia, Alaska and territorial possessions, the possibility of diversity became immense, and caused great inconvenience.

Attempts at Codifying.

In the year 1890 the state of New York passed an act under which the governor was authorized to appoint three "commissioners for the Promotion of Uniformity of Legislation in the United States." Other states soon joined this movement and annual meetings were held. At the meeting held in Detroit in 1895 the Committee on Commercial Law was authorized to draft a law relating to commercial paper, based on the English Bills of Exchange Act passed in 1882. Such an act was drafted by John J. Crawford on the New York bar, changed in some respects by the committee and finally recommended for passage in all the states.

The great commercial state of New York was the first to pass this uniform law. It became effective there in 1897. At the present day forty-three states have passed this law, in addition to the District of Columbia, Hawaii, Alaska and the Philippine Islands—forty seven American jurisdictions in all. The movement for uniformity of law on topics of general interest has spread until practically every state has commissioners for its promotion. The commissioners have drafted other laws, some of which have been adopted by several states, but none has been adopted so widely as the uniform "Negotiable Instruments" Laws. After several unsuccessful attempts this law was adopted in Illinois in 1907.

It is no new thing for foreign countries to codify the law in whole or in part. But in English speaking or common law countries it is unusual to reduce even one branch of the law to code form. Some states have codified the law relating to crime or real property, but until recently common law countries have been distinguished from the rest of the world by the fact that the law in general has remained in unwritten form, and has only been supplemented by legislation. When England codified her law of commercial paper in 1882 it was an innovation—it was her first effort to codify any branch of the common law. Practically all of the English colonies had already codified their law on this subject or did so subsequently. Previous to 1897 the United States occupied the unique position of being the only civilized country of any importance in which this branch of the law and not been codified. Even now, when nearly all the states have codified their law on this subject still the only branch of law that is codified in practically all civilized countries of the world.

This appearance of uniformity is misleading, however. The continental codes differ from each other and the English code differs from the continental codes. The code as framed in the United States, the modeled in part upon the English code, differs from it in many respects. In addition, some of the states in adopting the uniform draft, made some changes in it. So many actual or supposed defects were discovered in the uniform act before Illinois adopted it, that Illinois made numerous changes. And finally indicating how difficult it is to secure uniformity in independent bodies, even those states which have adopted the act with the same wording have not always agreed in its interpretation. Real uniformity has therefore not been attained. Perhaps it is not desirable. The idea of absolute uniformity has there not been attained. Perhaps it is not desirable. The idea of absolute uniformity on the law governing commercial paper circulating throughout the country irrespective of state lines is a fascinating one. But to obtain it, it would seem essential that the law be enacted by one legislative body for the entire country and that this law be interpreted finally by a single court.

RECENT ADVANCES IN THE WARFARE
AGAINST INFECTIOUS DISEASES

Susceptibility and Immunity Becoming Better Understood—German Theory of Professor Ehrlich Has Stood the Test of Years.

(By John M. Dodson, M. D., University of Chicago in University of Illinois Health Series.)

While the proof that these microorganisms are the cause of disease is absolute there is another factor to be considered. Few strains of bacteria are capable of producing their respective diseases in all animals. Some of the diseases of man can be produced in no animal known to us, and the disease of some species of animals cannot be transmitted to others. Even animals of the same species are not all alike, susceptible to the same disease, and some animal or man may be susceptible at one time and not at another.

other. Among human beings, for example, there are infections to which practically every individual born into the world is liable if exposed, while in other infections only a certain percentage succumb. An epidemic of measles or of smallpox in a founding's home or children's hospital where all of the inmates are equally exposed to contagion, will almost invariably attack 95 per cent to 98 per cent of the children who have not previously had the disease or been vaccinated. Scarlet fever on the other hand will attack only about 40 per cent. Everybody is susceptible to measles and small pox, about 60 per cent of the race enjoy a natural immunity to scarlet fever. An attack of infectious disease, therefore, involves two factors, the invading germ of the disease, and the susceptibility of the individual. This resisting power, known as immunity may be either natural inborn, as in the instance of scarlet fever, or it may be acquired. Such immunity may be acquired by means of a previous attack, which in many diseases protects the individual from further infection, either permanently or for a longer or shorter period, or it may be artificially induced either by vaccination, as in the case of small pox, or by the injection of antitoxin serum as in diphtheria.

Various theories have been entertained as to the nature and mechanism of immunity, but the one which best satisfies all of the conditions presented is that enunciated by Professor Ehrlich of Frankfurt, about twenty years ago, which has been one of the most useful and fruitful hypotheses in the history of science, though it is even yet to be regarded only as a working hypothesis. It is far too intricate and complicated to discuss in detail but its essential points may be briefly presented.

While the germs of disease may sometimes produce mischief purely mechanically by blocking small blood vessels, or again by destroying blood corpuscles, and perhaps in other ways, in the vast majority of cases the damage to the body is done by chemical substances generated by the bacteria and known as toxins. These toxins may be either set free from the bacteria to circulate, in the blood, or may remain attached to the bacteria, in which case they produce poisonous effects on the tissues with which these germs come in contact. These toxins damage the cells and tissues of the body by entering into chemical combination with the protoplasm or living matter of these cells. Now in the case of most of these infectious diseases these toxins stimulate the cell to the production of antagonistic or neutralizing substances, which are known as antitoxins, and in this way the body protects itself against the infection. In the case of natural immunity, as in that possessed toward scarlet fever by many persons, there are presumably natural antitoxins present in sufficient amount to neutralize any invasion of the germs of the disease. Sometimes in disease these antitoxins are produced in excess of the needs of the individual, and being set free in the blood of such an animal may be used to neutralize the toxins of the protection as well as the curative value of the antitoxins of diphtheria of lock-jaw of the recently discovered antitoxin serum of cerebro spinal meningitis devised by Dr. Flexner of the Rockefeller Institute. A horse injected with the toxins of the diphtheria bacillus in gradually increasing doses, protects himself by the generation of antitoxins, but these are produced in an amount far in excess of his needs, and so, when this horse is bled, the blood allowed to clot and the clear serum obtained, it is only necessary to inject it into the body of a person ill with diphtheria, to cure that disease, or to protect an exposed individual from thrashed infection. What a beneficial discovery was that of the diphtheria antitoxin by Behring and Kilasato about twenty years ago. One regrets to say, however, that the hopes which were aroused by this discovery that similar toxins would be found for the other infectious diseases, has been, as yet, only in a small part realized.

Dr. E. O. Gable Neuropathic Specialist

Will be at the Hotel Dunlap on His Next Visit, from 9 a. m.

Wednesday, April 28, until 3 p. m. Thursday, April 29

CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION FREE

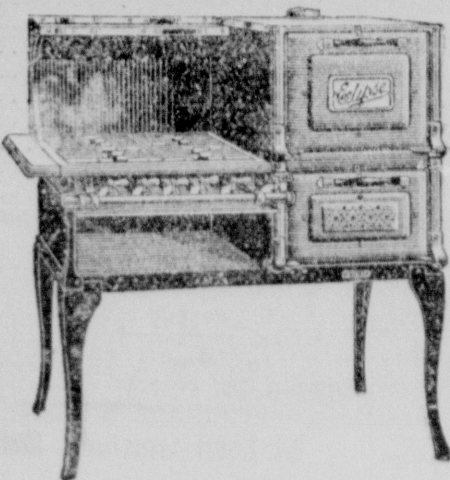

EDWIN O. GABLE, M. D.
Of Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Gable's New Neuropathic System of Treatment of Chronic Diseases is a combination of treatment that works through the nerves, through the stomach, liver, kidneys, blood and circulation. When the blood is pure and circulating normally and freely through any organ or tissue of the body there can be no weakness there, no matter whether it is rheumatism, nervous disease, kidney disease, liver or stomach trouble or weakness of any organ in the body. The weakness is caused from want of perfect circulation with pressure on the tissues and the nerves and muscles gradually give down and lose power and vigor.

Many chronic cases that had resisted other doctors and treatments have been given complete relief by this system of treatment. The doctor says he has treated many cases of heart trouble where patients had been suffering for a long time and given almost immediate relief, because when the nerve power is increased around the heart muscles begins to circulate more normally, and also causes the heart muscles to take on renewed life and strength. He states that he has treated many cases of chronic kidney trouble where the kidneys were clogged up and the little tubules would not functionate normally. With this new system of treatment, internally and to the spinal nerves, they get wonderful and quick relief. This is true with other organs, especially stomach troubles, dyspepsia, gas and fermentation. As soon as the congestion is relieved and the nerve power is restored to the stomach, the natural gastric juice is thrown out and does its work, chronic bladder troubles, by this method, when poison is removed from the water, and the secretions are thrown off normally there is immediate relief to the bladder symptoms. Chronic constipation comes from w the spine and internally, gives prompt relief to this trouble and also to irritation and disease of the nervous system, and where the patient is nervous and high strung, excitable and has insomnia, sick headache, palpitation and is easily frightened, etc.

He wants to explain personally these important facts to every person around Jacksonville suffering with chronic disease. He claims that most chronic diseases can be relieved unless the tissues are too much destroyed. You will have to come to him for personal examination. He never accepts cases until he has seen and examined the patient. He must know the condition of the blood and kidneys, the heart, the nerve power and circulation. He undertakes no cases that he thinks are incurable. He cannot afford to take a case unless he feels sure of helping it. His reputation and the reputation of the Neuropathic system of treatment are at stake. He wants to call special attention to chronic eye troubles, deafness, catarrh and throat troubles. He has given complete relief to many such cases since he has been coming here. The Neuropathic treatment is a treatment above other treatments in these troubles. He will give a personal examination FREE to all sufferers this trip. Please remember the date and send word to your neighbors and friends of this visit. There may be some of them suffering with chronic trouble that is gradually, day by day, sapping life and vitality. They do not know where to go for relief or what to do. Give them a chance and see if this treatment won't help them. Dr. Gable sees each patient personally and all are treated with the greatest confidence. He invites you to call.

Economy is talked, taught and practiced in almost every line of work, but housework. There, where most essential, it is neglected.

National Gas Range Week

Commences Monday, April 26

The primary object of this exhibition and demonstration is to teach economy of time—how to make the necessary housework so much easier and pleasanter; how actually to "save time" so that you will "have time" when something presents itself to which you really wish to devote some attention. There are many little, simple ways of economizing on time—so simple as readily to be overlooked, yet so important. Come often and learn how always to "have time."

Domestic Science Week

Commences Monday, April 26.

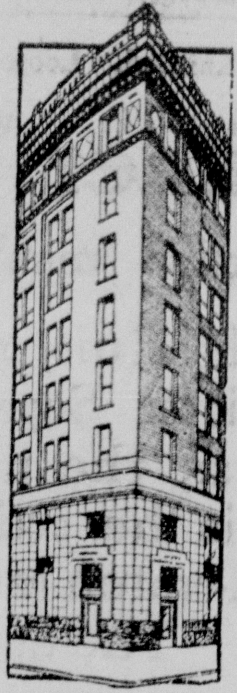

Our interesting Domestic Science Demonstrations will be in charge of Miss Emma Vassar, a graduate of that department of Chicago University. These demonstrations will begin each day during the coming week at 10 A. M. and 2 P. GENERAL SUMMARY.

"The most interesting features of the month were the uniform temperature, light precipitation, and absence of thunderstorms and high winds. The temperature continued almost the same day after day, instead of advancing with the season, and as a result vegetation made no material growth and garden planting was delayed. The usual extremes were absent. The precipitation was unusually light and fell mostly in the first decade. The state average in 1885 and 1910 were lighter but at Cairo the total was the least in 44 years. At a number of stations the precipitation was less than in any former March, with the exception of that of 1910. No thunderstorms were reported in the state and the total wind movement at Springfield was 773 miles less than in any other March. Wheat wintered well, as a rule, but at the close of the month it needed rain. A remarkable feature was the excellent condition of the dirt roads during most of the month. In the central division there were complaints of water shortage and many wells were dry."

Climatological Data.

The Government climatological data for month of March, 1915, just received, from which we make some comparisons:

The average mean temperature for the Central Division of the state was 55.7 degrees or 4.5 degrees below normal.

The average mean temperature for the whole state was 55.5 degrees, or 4.2 degrees below normal. The mean temperature at Alexander was 55.4 degrees.

The average rainfall for the central division was 0.89 inch or 2.02 below normal.

The average rainfall for the whole state was 0.84 inch or 2.9 below normal.

The total rainfall at Alexander was 0.80 inch.

DEAN OF Y. M. C. COLLEGE IS SPEAKER AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"Challenge of the Modern World" is Theme of Dr. O. D. Foster Sunday Forenoon—Is Former Teacher of Rev. Mr. Pontius.

"The Challenge of the Modern World" was the theme of an interesting discourse at Central Christian church Sunday when Dr. O. D. Foster, dean of the Y. M. C. A. college, Chicago, spoke from Mr. Pontius' pulpit on the demands made on the Christian by the world of today.

Dr. Foster was a teacher of Mr. Pontius when the latter was a student in the Yale Divinity school. He is an ordained minister in the Congregational church and before going to Chicago had work among the students of the University of Wisconsin at Madison. Dr. Foster last week was in Clinton, Ill. where he was principal speaker at a "Father and Son" banquet, held in connection with the Clinton Young Men's Christian Association.

Dr. Foster spoke of the changes in knowledge which make necessary constant reinterpretation of Christian teaching. He spoke of progress in archaeology, geology and astronomy, all serving to broaden man's mental horizon and, if rightly viewed, to increase spiritual perception.

COUNCIL WILL PASS ON ALL BILLS AGAINST CITY

Special Meeting for That Purpose Friday—James Harvey Resigns as Assistant Fire Chief.

Members of the present city council held their last Monday session yesterday, and only a short time was required for the transaction of business. At the morning session, adjournment was taken until afternoon for the canvass of election returns, and it was announced also that another meeting will be held Friday morning for the examination and approval of bills. Mayor Davis also suggested that Mr. Knollenberg ask all head of departments to file their reports for April at that time.

The resignation of James F. Harvey as assistant fire chief, to take effect May 1st, was read and accepted. James Ball was present and asked the council to refund $12.50 payment he had made on his license as a house mover, and asked also for the surrender of his bond of $2,000. He stated that the ordinance had not been enforced on other people and that he did not think it fair for him to be the only one required to make payment. Mr. Engel and Mr. Newman both said that it would not be proper for the council to make any refund, but that the matter instead should have immediate attention and the proper steps taken to enforce the ordinance with other house movers. Mr. Knollenberg said that Mr. Ball had spoken to him about the matter some time ago and that he had referred him to the chief of police. City Attorney Thompson made a statement to the same effect.

Mr. Knollenberg stated that he had requested practically all persons to whom he knew the city was indebted to file their bills this week, and that he would have public notices in both papers calling the attention of others to the fact that bills must be filed by Thursday afternoon at five o'clock if they were expected to receive the attention of the present commissioners.

NOTICE.
All persons having accounts against the city of Jacksonville are hereby notified that same must be filed with the city clerk not later than 5 p. m. Thursday, April 29th. The intention of the present council is to pass on all claims against the city at meeting Friday. Charles R. Knollenberg, Commissioner of Finance.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONTEST RESULTS IN A TIE RECORD

Great Attendance at Grace Church Last Sunday—George H. Wilson Made Address on Dry Legislation.

The attendance contest which has been in progress at Grace church Sunday school for eight weeks past ended with a tie, 20 points being the record of the women and 20 that of the men. Superintendent C. E. Collins has displayed a vast amount of energy in building up the school this winter, and the results of his activity and those associated with him in the work were certainly apparent Sunday morning. The record showed that nearly 400 men were present for the service. The collection was large and the number of men who had attended the church service last Sunday so good also that the previous advantage which has been gained by the women was overcome, and the result as stated was a tie.

Mrs. Nelson's class gave the largest collection and the greatest increase in attendance was in A. T. Capps' and Prof. Stone's classes.

A part of the large attendance Sunday was due to the fact that George H. Wilson, of Quincy, dry leader in the Illinois house of representatives, was announced for an address. There were visiting delegations from men's Bible classes in Northminster and the First Baptist churches, but these visitors were not counted in the regular attendance figures.

Mr. Wilson was introduced by W. C. McCullough and gave a very strong address. He emphasized how the duties of the church have grown through the years, and suggested that as the people were called upon to settle a great moral question—that of slavery—fifty years ago, that afterward there came a considerable period of reconstruction and materialism. Then in 1895 there came a sort of turning toward moral questions. This is evidenced by the different methods which candidates must now pursue and in the increased and growing interest in the liquor question.

Mr. Wilson said that a few years ago it would not have been thought possible that in 1914 a national prohibition measure could secure a majority vote in congress. Then Mr. Wilson told something of the development of the anti-saloon league movement and said that the Ohio minister who was the father of the league indeed "though the thoughts of God after Him" so efficient had the league proven in this war with the liquor interests. Then after the movement had been started, the speaker said that it seemed so simple that people wondered that it had not been thought of and tried out before, simply the church in action against the saloon and the Christian people acting together on common points.

Speaking of Illinois, Mr. Wilson said that the liquor business is the greatest trust in the state and he recounted something of the struggle which the members of the anti-saloon league have had in accomplishing what has been done in legislation in the state. He said that the anti-saloon league had lost some what in strength in the present legislature because of the incoming and outgoing of the Progressive party. Two years ago there were about twenty Progressives in the legislature and practically all of them voted with the dry forces. It has been the policy of the league to endorse men of known dryness without regard to their party affiliations and the last election in consequence a number of dry Progressives were endorsed and, because of the waning of the party, failed in election. Then Mr. Wilson described in a very interesting way something of the procedure which is followed in introducing a bill in the legislature, taking it through the committee, then upon the floor of the house where it finally becomes a law or meets its doom unless it is passed on for that purpose to the chief executive of the state. The large number of men did not constitute the whole number of Mr. Wilson's auditors, for the women also felt that they would be interested in his address and thronged the gallery.
